

Football

The history of football is still under debate, but it seems like the game as we know it today originated in the nineteenth century England. Football is a sport that arouses passions around the world, is a success, particularly among young people and fans of all grades, regardless of culture, race and age.

The first historical evidence attesting ball game is in English chronicles since 1175. In France, in the XIV century, a similar practice by the masses, namely game "La soule" and in Italian "Il gioco del calcio" (Playing foot). On October 26th, 1863 was founded the first association of football in England and the first regulation game that included 13 items.

I have been playing football since the age of eight and I am very proud of my accomplishments and teammates. I've been to many competitions with "Flacara Moreni" junior team, most of these competitions were run successfully.

Thanks to the coaches I had until the age of seventeen and due to daily training, a lot of effort in these years, currently we started the senior team "Flacara Moreni" in the fourth division, but at the end of this year, the team managed to reach the third league, and for me it is a huge breakthrough.

These fabulous moments that you live with your teammates, supporters, the fans and family, give me the strength to fight every day, to clench in heavy training days and beyond. Thanks to these wonderful people in my sport life and everyday life I am now what I want to be.

These images and words that I have written are a few of my sporting life. I hope I get to a higher level and to have a great career in football.
